Re: 44E-SU-NEW, 03/21/2007

Details: According to a Boise P.D. report and media articles, between March 2 - 4, 2007, several swastika-emblazoned stickers were placed on several items on or in the vicinity of the Islamic Center of Boise (ICOB), which is located at 2719 Stewart Avenue, Boise, Idaho 83702, telephone number (208) 429-1866.

The BPD report indicates that three stickers with swastikas, a male holding a rifle, and the phrase, "Combat 18 In Your Area," were found on a vehicle parked at the mosque, a side door of the mosque, and a shoe rack on the front door of the mosque.

BPD was notified by one or more members of the ICOB, and BPD collected the stickers and spoke to four members of the ICOB on March 4, 2007.

The FBI became aware of the incident approximately one week after its occurrence, after the incident was reported in the March 10, 2007 of the Idaho Statesman newspaper.

Writer spoke to AUSA [redacted] on March 14, 2007 about the incident, and Writer spoke to Boise P.D. detectives twice during the week of March 12-16, 2007 (Sgt. [redacted] and Sgt. [redacted]). Detective [redacted] advised Writer that BPD was going to process the three stickers for latent fingerprints, but no further investigation was being conducted at the present time (no detective is assigned to the matter). BPD patrol officers conducted interviews at the ICOB and did a neighborhood canvass with negative results.

Combat 18, aka C18, was formed in Great Britain in 1992 as a Neo-Nazi organization. Combat 18 may be an offshoot of the right-wing political organization in the U.K. known as the British National Party. The term "18" stands for the first and eighth letters of the alphabet, A and H, signifying the group's admiration of Adolf Hitler. Combat 18 has active membership in several countries, including the U.K., Canada and Australia. Combat 18 members have been associated with numerous violent acts.

In the Boise area Combat 18 is relatively unknown to law enforcement.

Local mosque targeted with swastika stickers

BY REBECCA BOONE
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police are investigating after swastika-emblazoned stickers promoting a neo-Nazi group were plastered on the Islamic Center of Boise.

The stickers peeled off easily, leaving no physical damage to the mosque, police spokeswoman Lynn Hightower said. But they left behind an emotional residue, with local Muslims wondering why they were targeted.

"These things don't pop up in Boise very often, but they're a cause for concern, especially when they show up on a mosque," Hightower said.

The stickers were discovered

Sunday morning, as children arrived at the mosque for Sunday school, said Furqan Mehmood, the center's education director.

"We were concerned if this was targeted toward our children," said Mehmood.

But after questioning members of the mosque, officials learned the stickers were actually left Saturday afternoon. Somali refugees who came to the mosque to pray that afternoon noticed the stickers but didn't report them because they were unfamiliar with the swastika symbol and assumed they were from a delivery service or other benign source, Mehmood said. The mosque wasn't the only building targeted with the neo-Nazi propaganda, Hightower said.

In February, the stickers were found at a local property management business. It's not clear why the business was targeted, she said.

The report in that case was made as informational — no one was claiming to be a victim or target," Hightower said. "It's definitely under investigation but we have no known suspects at this time. Of course it would make the people at the Islamic Center very nervous, and in the past week or so Boise police have been providing extra patrols in that area."

The incident violates Idaho's felony malicious harassment law, Hightower said.

During a service at the mosque Friday, Abdul Khaliq Yoonas encouraged the congregation to continue giving back to the Boise community despite facing harassment from others.

"Even in Idaho, as redneck as it gets — at least, that's the reputation that it has — two years ago a Muslim received the Idaho human rights award," Yoonas said. "Every one of us in our own way can make a contribution. ... You will hear all kinds of stuff about you as Muslims and your faith, but let's not let that affect us. You have to be steadfast in your belief system."

The stickers promoted Combat 18, a loosely organized neo-Nazi group that likely originated in Britain, officials said.

"One of our detectives talked to a national investigator who has experience with these types of groups, and it's not an organization per se, but a title or name that anybody can claim or use for their own individual actions," Hightower said. The incident has drawn the attention of some lawmakers.

"We're seeing some increased activity," Rep. Tom Trail, R-Moscow, who on Friday was pushing a measure in the Idaho Senate to reaffirm the state's commitment to human rights. "Maybe it's the spawn of the Aryan Nations."

Trail was referring to the racist northern Idaho group. Beginning in 1981, racists from throughout the United States and Canada gathered every July at the Aryan Nations compound near Hayden Lake for the three-day Aryan World Congress. The group leader, Richard Butler, lost in compound after he was hit with $6.3 million civil judgment in 2000. Two members of a family who had been attacked by Aryan Nation members in 1998 won the judgment in a lawsuit, and Butler was forced to sell the property following bankruptcy.

Said Ahmed Zaid, an associate professor at Boise State University and the man who earned the human rights award two years ago, said the incident should serve as a reminder to parents to educate their children about diversity tolerance.

"We hope parents are watching what their kids are doing and telling them" about racism.

Police, FBI Investigate Possible Hate Groups In Idaho

Ktvb.com

By Ysabel Bilbao

March 11, 2007

BOISE, ID -- A Boise mosque is targeted by hate, and a human rights speech in northern Idaho interrupted were by shouts of hate.

Now police departments from Boise to Coeur d'Alene including the FBI are investigating to see if some hate groups are trying to establish themselves back in Idaho. Police have the stickers in their custody as part of an investigation. They peeled off easily from the windows of this mosque. There are no suspects are this time, and the members here are shocked this happened to them. "Some may trivialize that it was a prank of some sort, that's just a prank, but we take it very seriously," said Said Ahamed-Zaid, Islamic Center of Boise. One week ago -- the Islamic Cultural Center of Boise was hit by a hate crime. As school aged children went to weekly classes they were greeted by stickers -- bearing the swastika symbol. Stuck around the mosque -- mostly on the windows -- the stickers were eventually taken down and handed over to police.

"We have children in this center and our community has felt very vulnerable," said Ahamed-Zaid. Boise Police say this is not the first building targeted by Neo-Nazi Propaganda -- and just last Thursday -- four men in their 20's shouted Aryan Nations slogans during a speech at the Human Rights Education Institute in Coeur d'Alene. The FBI is now involved and says there is concern about possible renewed activity by white-supremacist groups. Starting in 1981 and lasting into the 21st century members from United States, even Canada started gathering in North Idaho and marched the streets promoting the message of white supremacy. Hayden Lake was known as a haven of hate as it was the home Richard Butler's training ground. But a multi-million dollar lawsuit against Butler forced him to sell the compound and file bankruptcy.

"To the extent that people knew about the activity, it was an embarrassment to our state," said Marilyn Shuler, Former Director of Idaho Human Rights Commission. Human Rights Advocates say it was peace groups that helped chip away at the Aryan Organization -- and considered it the end of an era -- now officials are hoping to keep the hate groups away. And those at the Islamic Center of Boise hope parents will teach their children tolerance not hate. "It sends a message that we are not welcome in this community and we are not allowed to practice our faith and religion freely and it should send a message to all decent Boiseans and Idahoans that when a group like ours is threatened, every faith based group should be worried and concerned," said Ahamed-Zaid. A crime like this one is a felony and is punishable under Idaho's felony malicious harassment law. Police say when groups of people feel threatened it is taken very serious under the law.

Details: On 03/04/2007, three swastika-emblazoned stickers were found on or around the Islamic Center of Boise, which is a mosque that is predominantly Sunni. The Boise Police Department (BPD) was notified on 03/04/2007 and responded. The stickers, according to the BPD report, were placed on the mosque between 03/02/2007 and 03/04/2007. On 03/03/2007 a similar sticker was found at the Idaho Anne Frank Human Rights Memorial in Boise. The stickers had a Nazi swastika on them, with a representation of a male holding a rifle, with the phrase, "Combat 18 In Your Area." One sticker was found on a vehicle in the mosque's parking lot, one on a side door of the mosque, and the third sticker was found on a shoe rack on the mosque's porch, although this sticker may have originally been placed on the mosque's front door. Information suggests a mosque patron, who was unfamiliar with what a swastika represents, innocently removed the sticker from the front door and placed it on the shoe rack.

Recent information indicates one of these "Combat 18" swastika stickers was also found at the Idaho Anne Frank Human Rights Memorial in Boise, on 03/03/2007. The person who found the Combat 18 sticker at the Anne Frank Memorial did not notify law enforcement, and BPD found out about this incident 44E-SU-63366-5 approximately two weeks after the fact. Combat 18, aka C18, is a violent neo-Nazi group founded in the U.K. in 1992, which has taken responsibility in the past for the detonation of several IEDs (Nail Bombs) in the United Kingdom. In July 2002 a French male attempted to assassinate French President Jacques Chirac with a rifle. The day before the attempt, the male had posted a message on Combat 18's web site urging members to watch television at the time when the attack was to take place. The number 18 in Combat 18's group name represents the first and eighth letters of the alphabet, A and H, which is a reference to Adolf Hitler. FBI and Boise Police Department are investigating. The stickers found at the mosque generated significant media attention in the Boise area.

Details: On 03/04/2007, three swastika-emblazoned stickers were found on or around the Islamic Center of Boise, which is one of two mosques in Boise. The orange-colored 3" x 5" stickers had depictions of a black Nazi swastika, a hooded male holding an assault rifle, the phrase "White Power," and the phrase, "Combat 18 In The Area!" The Boise Police Department (BPD) was notified by Islamic Center of Boise (ICB) personnel and responded.

In mid-March Boise P.D. was notified that a Boise resident had found a "Combat 18" sticker on 03/03/2007 at the Idaho Anne Frank Human Rights Memorial. BPD also was aware that a property management company in Boise had, on two occasions, found "Combat 18" stickers on the front door of their business.

Between March 2 - 4, 2007, several swastika-emblazoned stickers were placed on several items on or in the vicinity of the Islamic Center of Boise (ICOB), which is located at 2719 Stewart Avenue, Boise, Idaho 83702, telephone number (208) 429-1866. Additionally, on March 3, 2007, a Boise resident discovered a similar sticker on the Anne Frank Memorial in Boise, Idaho. The Anne Frank Memorial is located at the Idaho Human Rights Education Center, 777 S. 8th Street, Boise, Idaho 83702, telephone number (208) 345-0304. Boise Police Department was alerted by members of the ICOB, and responded to the mosque on March 4, 2007. Boise Police Department (BPD) did not learn of the swastika sticker found at the Anne Frank Memorial until it was reported on March 22, 2007.

The initial BPD report, DR # 2007-707201, indicated that three stickers with swastikas, a male holding a rifle, and the phrase, "Combat 18 In Your Area," were found on a vehicle parked at the mosque, a side door of the mosque, and a shoe rack on the front door of the mosque. A similar sticker was found at the Anne Frank Memorial. A copy of the sticker obtained later by the FBI from BPD showed the sticker to be orange with black lettering, 3 1/2" x 5" rectangular shape, with the phrase "WHITE POWER!," a depiction of a swastika, the phrase "Combat 18 IN THE AREA!," and a depiction of a black hooded male holding an assault rifle.

Regarding the mosque incident, BPD was notified by members of the ICOB, and BPD collected the stickers and spoke to members of the ICOB on March 4, 2007.

The FBI became aware of the mosque hate-crime incident approximately one week after its occurrence, after the incident was reported in the March 10, 2007 edition of the Idaho Statesman newspaper.

Writer spoke to AUSA [redacted] on March 14, 2007 about the incident, and Writer spoke to Boise P.D. detectives twice during the week of March 12-16, 2007 (Sgt. [redacted] and Sgt. [redacted]).
